WHEN POLLY DUSTS.

When Polly dusts the room, my dears,
Then look, and look in vain.
For books and papers, ink or pen,
Or aught you want again.
Dear long-familiar spiderwebs
No more black nooks illumine;
No man nor beast count in her schemes
When Polly dusts the room.
When Polly dusts the room, my dears,
Oh, how the chairs walk round!
And all the morn what whacks and thuds
Throughout the house resound!
The woman looks a trifle awed;
My broom is filled with gloom
(He thinks, I'm sure, I'm keeping school
When Polly dusts the room.)
When Polly dusts the room, my loves,
Why bear we all so meek?
Because, though comfort's gone today,
Reward's not far to seek.
There cometh one for whose sweet sake
Let march forth every broom!
A recompense we truthful wait
When Polly dusts the room.
When Polly dusts the room, my dears,
Oh, never yield to grief!
He sure the morrow's rose opens fair
Though sere today the leaf.
Outdoors a coming joy I feel;
The tardy wood-flowers bloom;
All nature hastes a welcome, while
Small Polly dusts the room.
When Polly dusts the room, my dears,
The brown thrush sings in glee,
All houses round may whirl, e'en fall,
But, oh, what careth he?
And what care I, when 'neath this tree,
I think of her who soon
Will make her whole home bright: 'tis sure
When Polly dusts the room!

GOEBELISM in Kentucky has a worthy rival in Peabodyism in Colorado, according to the best lights obtainable. Below is a vivid picture of conditions in the latter state, drawn by The Courier-Journal; and all that is necessary to transfer the picture to Kentucky is to substitute the name of GOEBEL for PEABODY on the one side and TAYLOR for ADAMS on the other—then the work will be equal to that of any Old Master. But when it is known that The Courier-Journal was vehemently on both sides of the Goebel issue at home, it will create little surprise to find it now condemning in Colorado what it heartily approves in Kentucky. Here is the picture, fresh from the brush—

A COLORADO PROPHECY.

Former Congressman SHAFPROTH of Colorado—he who created a sensation in the last Congress by resigning his seat because he believed he had not been honestly elected —is quoted as saying that the unseating of Governor ADAMS by the Republicans has made the state safely Democratic. He adds that the party will renominate ADAMS next year and re-elect him by 50,000 majority.

The proof of Mr. SHAFPROTH's words lies, of course, in the test next year; but there is evidently much force in what he says.

Through the machinations of the Unspeakable PEABODY and certain members of the Assembly with deficient consciences, Governor ADAMS was deprived of the office of Governor. But he conducted himself with wisdom, patience, self-control and respect for the law. When he found that through the indefensible and corrupt deal made by PEABODY and PEABODY's supporters he was to be ousted he stepped down and out, and today he enjoys the esteem and confidence of many who opposed him during the campaign. He ought to be strong. He ought to be given the nomination for Governor next year. He deserves to be elected by an overwhelming majority.

And while Colorado prepares to do the justice to ALVA ADAMS, as prophesied by Mr. SHAFPROTH, every person who admires honor among men and conscience among office-holders will trust that the PEABODY man will be treated with the scorn and contempt he so richly deserves. Of all corrupt political bargains in the history of states none is blacker than that he piloted. And of all political pirates none can more justifiably carry the black flag than he. He merits a reproof. The election of ADAMS by a tremendous majority would be a reproof that ought to sting a hide even as tough as his.

Political Pickings

THE "MODERATE DRINKER."

Louisville Times.

We hear a great deal about orgies in the camp of the Russians and about the defeat of the Russian arms being due in a great measure to the intemperance of the officers. Many persons, no doubt, picture the Russians going into battle intoxicated and "running amuck," but American Medicine throws a different and an instructive light upon the subject in the following paragraph—

"It is apparently not so much a question of drunkenness as it is one of the pathologic results of long-continued excessive drinking without drunkenness."

It is, according to this authority, the "steady drinker," the man who believes that he is temperate and would bitterly resent being referred to as a drunkard, who is responsible for Russian defeats.

The man who is never drunk, but who takes his drinks regularly, is the man who fails in military or in civil life in a crucial test. As long as everything goes right he is capable enough, perhaps, but in an emergency which calls for the taxation of the brain and nerves he is found unequal to the calls made upon him. To the General who leads the land forces, the Admiral who commands the squadron, the business man who manages a large mercantile establishment, the doctor who has a large number of patients under his care, or the lawyer whose duty it is to guard financial interests, vodka spells defeat.

William Burton, aged 27, and Florence Catron, aged 24, of Mason county, were married this morning at the home of the officiating Minister, Rev. George Froh, Washington.

Rev. Ben. Biggs, former Chaplain of the Confederate Home at Pewee Valley, died in a Lexington Hospital yesterday, aged 65. Biggs was one of the most remarkable men in Kentucky. He was with John Morgan in all his campaigns, and fought in sixty-three engagements, coming out without a scratch.

BABY'S FACE MASS OF SORES

Ears Looked as if They Would Drop Off—Body Entirely Covered with Humor—Three Doctors Could Not Cure—Child Grew Worse.

CURED BY CUTICURA IN TWO WEEKS

Mrs. George J. Steese, of 701 Coburn St., Akron, Ohio, tells in the following letter of another of those remarkable cures of torturing, disfiguring skin humors daily made by Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, after physicians, and all else had failed: "I feel it my duty to parents of other poor suffering babies to tell you what Cuticura has done for my little daughter. She broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used everything recommended, but without results. I called in three doctors, they all claimed they could help her, but she continued to grow worse. Her body was a mass of sores, and her little face was eaten away, her ears looked as if they would drop off. Neighbors advised me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and before I had used half of the cake of soap and box of ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body was as clear as a new-born babe's. I would not be without it again if it cost five dollars, instead of seventy-five cents, which is all it cost us to cure our baby, after spending many dollars on doctors and medicines without any benefit whatever."

A Good Suggestion.

Mr. C. B. Wainwright of Lemon City, Fla., has written the manufacturers that much better results are obtained from the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in cases of pains in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus by taking it in water as hot as can be drunk. That when taken in this way the effect is double in rapidity. "It seems to get at the right spot instantly," he says. For sale by all Druggists.

Lewis County Fair Association's Donation to Redmen's Fair

All unexpected—and for that reason all the more appreciated—came the following letter, which is more eloquent than anything THE LEDGER can say about it—

VANCEBURG, KY., May 22d, 1903.
Thomas A. Davis, Maysville, Ky.—Dear Sir: Inclosed please find check for $10 as donation of the Lewis County Fair Association to your Redmen's Street Fair, which please hand to the proper person. With best wishes for the success of your fair, we remain

Making Uncle Sam's Money

American paper money is conceded by every one to be the most beautiful money in the world. But no one realizes the care and the minute attention to detail that produces this perfection of work until one has visited the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, where the money is made. To print a $1 bill takes thirty days from the time the prepared paper is received at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing until it is returned to the Treasury Department, where the final red seal is printed upon it. These thirty days have been consumed in no less than 25 different processes and no less than 52 different persons have handled the $1 bill in its preparation.

The guides who explain the various steps of the printing of the bill make it easy to remember these facts by pointing out that the number of days consumed in the preparation of the bill is equal to the days of a month; that the number of different processes is equal to the Sundays in a year, while the number of different persons who handle the bill is the number of weeks in a year.

Visitors to the Bureau invariably express their surprise that with so many millions of dollars passing through various hands there is no loss by theft. To them, it seems impossible that not one of the thousands of sheets of bank notes, ranging from a $1 bill to a $50,000 note, should ever disappear. But when one is shown the constant series of checks and counter-checks on every bundle of notes, one understands that the course of the money from the minute it leaves the Treasury Department as a blank sheet of paper until it finally returns to the Department for the imprint of the red seal is traced so accurately that never for one moment can there be a doubt as to its presence. Moreover, every afternoon, at 3 o'clock, or about one hour before the Department closes for the day's work, and before the night workers come on duty, the chiefs of all sections of the Bureau meet and account to each other for all the paper that has passed through their hands, including printed money, stamps of all kinds, revenue stamps, bonds and securities that are being printed on that day. Should there be a failure to account for each sheet, or a single postage stamp, the chief of the section who cannot give an accounting is held responsible, and all the employees in the entire building are locked up until the missing sheet is found. If it cannot be found, then the face value of the missing sheet is charged up against the section where it was last received and the employees in that section are compelled out of their wages to pay the Government the entire face value of the missing sheet. Happily for the employees of the Bureau, there has never yet been a day when every sheet has not been accounted for.

The Cincinnati, Pomeroy and Charleston Packet Company of Marietta, with $50,000 capital, has been incorporated at Columbus, O., by Junius Greenwood, Gordon C. Greene, William E. Roe, Jesse P. Hughes and Martin Noll.

Six hundred carloads of railroad ties came down the Kentucky river on the recent rise. The report that the lower portion of the river had been closed for lock repairs is a mistake. The water is too high to permit the work being done, and it will be two weeks or more before navigation is stopped.

As soon as the river declines sufficiently to allow craft to be hauled out on the cradles of the Cincinnati Marine Ways, Superintendent W. J. Simpson expects to begin work that will keep the ship carpenters, millwrights and machinists busy all summer. There is enough repair work in sight to keep things going at the Ways for several months. There are about 20 barges, model barges and floats to be repaired.

Correspondence

SPRINGDALE.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Fletcher received its first baptism of great sorrow when the spirit of their lovely daughter, Ada, took its flight to the Elysian fields early Saturday morning last. The immense crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives that thronged the home and spacious grounds on Sunday testified to the love and esteem in which this sweet and gentle girl was held. The memorial services, beautiful in their simplicity of scripture reading, song and prayer, were in strict accordance with the expressed wishes of the departed one. The song service by Mrs. Cooper, assisted by Miss Goodwin and Mr. Pollitt, was very touching. Six little girls in white strewed flowers in the path of the pallbearers, also in white. The pallbearers were—Misses Frances Goodwin, Ada Dawson, Fannie Forman, Louise Cruey, Fannie Webster and Cora Webster. The lovely vision of the little flower girls, followed by the ballbearers with the body of their school-mate in its snowy casket, made a picture of beauty that will long remain "on memory's wall." The cortege, covering nearly a mile in length, then slowly wended its way to the Maysville Cemetery, where the precious body was laid to rest. The bereaved parents and sister have the sympathy of every one. Such grief can only be understood by those who have also passed through this same deep valley of sorrow.

A GREAT WEAPON.

Maysville People Cannot Fail to Appreciate the Worth of It.

Only one weapon To fight backache—The weapon that strikes the cause—Doan's Kidney Pills reach the root. Their work in Maysville proves it. You read of cures made years ago. And the cures were lasting cures. Read the following:

Mrs. Mary Thomas, wife of J. A. Thomas of 204 Limestone street, Maysville, Ky., says: "I am only too pleased to confirm the statement I made in the spring of 1900 recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, after they had relieved me of backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble. I got them at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore. During the years that have elapsed since I made that statement I have had occasion to give Doan's Kidney Pills a further trial, and I have found that it requires only a few doses to ward off attacks of kidney trouble or to check them before they become serious. I can also point to the case of my boy, 12 years old, who at the time I first used Doan's Kidney Pills was troubled a great deal with weakness of the kidneys and could not control the secretions properly. I gave him Doan's Kidney Pills and he improved rapidly under the treatment. The relief he found has proved lasting and from his experience and mine I am certainly warranted in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills.
